CHICAGO GRAIN MARKET.

Chicago, Ill., November 28.—It was estimated here to-day that the world's wheat supplies show nearly 10 per cent more available than the theoretic requirements for the remainder of the year. This condition acts as an offset to smaller world's shipments than expected and to a decrease in the United States visible supply. Accordingly the market here closed precisely the same as forty-eight hours previous for May and is. lower to $40\forall c. higher for other months. There was a not decline of $60 to $60\forall c. in corn and a shade to $60 in oats. Latest prices for provisions were up 7\forall c.
